

Deer wrangled and saved in Westville

By Gloucester County Times

March 03, 2010, 6:11AM

Gloucester County Animal Control Officers Owen Sturm (in background) and Kim Franks (left), aided by a Westville police officer, try to subdue a deer Tuesday morning.

WESTVILLE — Police and Gloucester County Animal Control Officers had to wrangle a deer that got itself caught up in a residential area of Summit Avenue here Tuesday morning.

Gloucester County Animal Control Officer Owen Sturm carries doe to his truck in Westville.

Animal Control Officer Owen Sturm jumped onto the doe's back, threw a cloth over her eyes and hogtied her to safely relocate her, according to Police Chief Fred Lederer.

Gloucester County Animal Control Officer Owen Sturm releases doe at the wildlife preservation area at Wheelabrator Inc. in West Deptford Township.

Sturm and Animal Control Officer Kim Franks drove the deer to Wildlife Preserve area at Wheelabrator Inc. in West Deptford, where it was released unharmed.